On behalf of Forestry Commission England and South West Wood Fuels Ltd we would like to invite you to attend Woodfuel - Getting it Right at the Bicton Arena, Near Budleigh Salterton, Devon on either the 14th or the 15th October.

These two identical events are part of the Forestry Commission England's annual outreach programme and draw on many years of accumulated experience in turning wood fuel ideas into reality. Woodfuel - Getting it Right will provide valuable information and demonstrations on some wood fuel production methods to promote further development of wood fuel in the South West.

The cost of the event is £15.00 which includes refreshments and a light lunch. Stout footwear is recommended for the outdoor sessions.

The Programme

The event is aimed at anybody looking at sustainable energy from wood fuel, particularly:

- Architects
- Designers/planners
- Developers
- Heating engineers/installers
- Builders
- Land owners/agents
- Foresters
- Forestry contractors
- Anybody with an interest in wood fuel

The programme will cover aspects of specifying, installing and fuelling wood heat installations at a wide variety of scales. A combination of talks from industry experts and site visits to wood fuel production sites will give you the complete picture of this increasingly important and cost-effective renewable energy source.
