

Forest Heritage Scotland

Discover your roots in Scotland's forests

www.forestheritagescotland.com

Glen Lyon

by Jess Smith

Glen Lyon area there's a sheiling there, a big sheiling, and all the people came from Glen Lyon went up there with their cattle and everything and the saying goes that thais folk used to light two fires at either side of the sheiling on the wee roadie up, the drove road, and they would drive their cattle through the two fires to burn away the devil out of the cattle, and that took the evil out of the cattle and they became, you know, they got exactly what they wanted from their beasts.

This is the transcript of the audio file available at www.forestheritagescotland.com

