

Government Transparency Agenda

The Government has set out the need for greater transparency across its operations to enable the public to hold public bodies and politicians to account. This includes commitments about public expenditure, intended to help achieve better value for money.

As part of the transparency agenda, the Government has made the following commitments for procurement and contracting, note procurement is devolved to the Welsh and Scottish Administrations, so some of these requirements are not UK-wide at this time.

- All new central government tender documents for contracts over £10,000 are to be published on a single website from September 2010, and this information will be made available to the public free (except for contracts concluded in Scotland or Wales exclusively).
- New items of central government spending over £25,000 to be published online from November 2010.
- All new central government contracts with a value greater than £10,000 are to be published in full on a single website from January 2011, and this information will be made available to the public free (except for contracts concluded in Scotland or Wales exclusively).

Bidders and those organisations looking to bid for public sector contracts should be aware that if they are awarded a new government contract, as a public sector organisation, we will publish that contract. In some circumstances, some information will be made unreadable before they are published so we comply with existing law and for protecting national security.

As part of the tendering process, when submitting your bids, you should identify which pieces of information you regard as being sensitive and would not want published. We will then assess this information (along with the rest of the contract) against the exemptions set out by the Freedom of Information Act when considering which contractual information should or should not be published.
