

THE SPEAKERS

Dave Dowson—Dave has developed “STORM” a system for auditing tree management systems for their legal defensibility

Mike Ellison—The “Quantified Tree Risk Management” system developed by Mike has been marketed by the Chapter for years and is familiar to many of you.

Neville Fay—his Company Treeworks has developed a number of management modules covering tree risk, particularly regarding ancient trees.

Roy Finch—has dealt with many of the high profile tree failure cases in the UK and his knowledge of failure patterns will make his moderation of the 2 days invaluable.

Julian Forbes-Laird—consultant with CBA Ltd and will present his system “THREATS”.

Ed Hayes—International expert on tree hazards and author of many books and papers

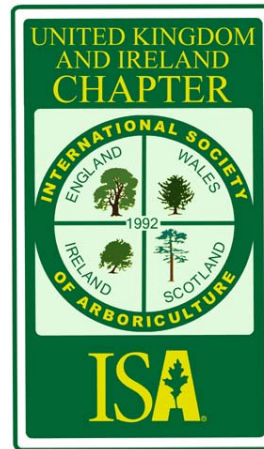

David Lonsdale—Leading pathologist and author, David needs no introduction to UK Arborists.

Charles Mynors—UK’s leading barrister and legal expert in tree related matters, Charles is a regular and essential speaker at ISA meetings.

Dealga O’Callaghan— leading figure in UK arboriculture, Dealga will present the “Matheny Clarke” system.

Strategic Risk Management

For the first time ever the ISA has been able to bring together some of the worlds leading authorities on "Tree Risk Management Systems". This is Ed Hayes' first lecture tour of the UK and to my knowledge the first time all of the other UK based speakers, who need no introduction, have appeared on the same stage. It is chance to experience nearly all of the available systems for assessing tree populations on a risk basis and will probably not come along again—you need to be there!

Places are very limited in order to make the experience far more hands on, so don't delay.

The venue is exclusive and the grounds are superb for the demonstration of tree systems.

This is a departure from the Chapters usual style of annual Conference and I'm sure you will not be disappointed with the result.

If you are not there it is one of those events that you will always regret missing.
