

Technical Seminar Series 2013-14

Topical forestry-related research seminars

Details: Seminars run approximately once a month on Friday afternoons 14.00-15:00, including time for questions, and are followed by tea, coffee & biscuits.

8th November 2013	Andrew Barnes	SRUC
What does recent research tell us about farmers' readiness for climate change? (working title)
29th November 2013	Helen Armstrong	Broomhill Ecology
The Scottish uplands: romantic wilderness or devastated wasteland
24th January 2014	Duncan Stone	SNH
How to grow a 300 year-old tree
21st February 2014	Niall McNamara	CEH Lancaster
Measuring bioenergy crops' carbon footprint credentials
21st March 2014	Roland Ennos	University of Manchester
Physical Benefits of Trees in Towns
2nd May 2014	Mariella Marzano	Forest Research
Tree health and biosecurity - what can social research tell us?
30th May 2014	Glenn Iason	JHI
Efficient conservation of Scotland's native woodlands

Venue: The Library, Forest Research, Northern Research Station, Bush Estate, Midlothian, EH25 9SY. Reception: 0131 445 2176. The venue is wheel chair accessible.

Booking: Please email Evelyn.Hall@forestry.gsi.gov.uk book your place.

This means we can notify you of unexpected changes and ensure enough spaces. (Note: Forest Research staff don't need to book). Attendance is free and open to all. Seminars are also available as live webinars.

More Information: Please visit our website: www.forestry.gov.uk/fr/events

Contact: Kate.Beauchamp@forestry.gsi.gov.uk 0131 445 6956