

Advanced notice of Harvesting operations

Rendlesham is a sustainable working forest and plays an important role in supplying the British timber market. During Autumn 2016-17 the Forestry Commission will be harvesting trees which are ready for thinning across this section of Rendlesham Forest. During harvesting operations the forest and trails will be closed to the public, however, we would like visitors to be able to use other parts of the forest safely during this time.

This map outlines when areas will be harvested so you can plan ahead and avoid entering the harvesting site.

Be aware that this plan may change due to unforeseen circumstances so always obey warning signs.

To keep updated, visit the Rendlesham Forest webpage <http://www.forestry.gov.uk/rendlesham> and click on Harvesting Operations.
