INTRODUCTION

Rendlesham Forest is located in Suffolk's coastal heathland belt known as The Sandlings. This is the heart of the Suffolk Coast's AONB. Prior to acquisition by the Forestry Commission, the Sandlings area was mainly bare heathland with scattered, derelict agricultural holdings and small coniferous and broad-leaved woodland strips.

In 1920, one year after the creation of the Forestry Commission, 1029 Ha of land was acquired from the Rendlesham Estate for the purpose of growing timber. The final acquisitions were made between 1945 and 1955. The predominant crop trees in the main blocks are Corsican Pine and Scots Pine interspersed with other coniferous and broad-leaved species.

During the night of 16th October 1987, 1477 hectares of mature pine trees were either uprooted or snapped off by high winds gusting up to 83 mph. Although this was a disastrous event, it allowed the foresters to bring forward conservation plans for the area, which are in evidence with the heathland and wetland areas and broad-leaved planting.

The main recreation area is based at Rendlesham Forest Centre. This centre offers a range of facilities; waymarked walks and cycle trails, adventure play area, giant play sculpture, cycle hire, light refreshments, picnic areas and an annual events programme.

Other specialist recreation activities also take place in the forest, which include; husky races, motorcycle enduros, orienteering and mountain bike events. Other facilities in the forest include car parks and picnic areas located throughout the forest.

This survey was conducted at Rendlesham Forest Centre during the summer of 2000. This was the first survey of the area and the objectives were to confirm:

- Who the customers are
- Where they have come from
- Where we should be marketing/ promoting the forest and how effective our current promotion is
- How people rate our facilities
- Areas which need improvement/ development

East Anglia Forest District

SUMMARY

This report provides results from a visitor survey that took place at East Anglia Forest District in the summer of 2000. A total of 156 questionnaires were completed at Rendlesham.

28 % of the groups consisted of 4 people 18 % of groups consisted of 3 people. A further 16 % consisted of 6 or more people. 88 % of groups included adults aged between 25-59 years, 82 % of groups included children, 29 % included senior citizens and only 5 % included young adults aged 16-24 years. 22 % of all groups had dogs with them, and 21 % of groups had bicycles with them.

Over three-quarters (77 %) had travelled from home that day. Of those who did not travel from home, over half (56 %) were camping or caravanning.

Over half of the visitors (56 %) had travelled between 6 and 15 miles. A further 21% travelled shorter distances. The majority of respondents (88 %) had travelled by car or van to get to the woodland.

71 % of respondents had visited Rendlesham before. Of those who had visited the woodland before, almost half (47 %) visited between 1 and 3 times a year. 41 % found out about Rendlesham forest through friends and relatives. 22 % had always known about the woodland.

38 % of respondents at were visiting the sites to get some fresh air or exercise. Just over a third (38 %) of respondents were staying for around 2 hours. Almost half the visitors stayed longer than this

Two-thirds of the respondents had used the waymarked walks. The most popular walks were the red and blue walks. Visitors were very satisfied with the paths and route-marking. Other facilities at the centre were generally rated good or very good, although visitors found the toilets less satisfactory with 20 % rating them poor or very poor.

Suggestions for improvements included more and better toilets, bins for litter and dog mess.

RENDELSHAM FOREST CENTRE, EAST ANGLIA VISITOR SURVEY 2000

The Rendlesham Visitor Survey ran between July and September 2000. A total of 156 interviews were carried out.

Group Composition

There were a total of 722 visitors in the 156 groups were interviewed. 43 % of all visitors were male.

Figure 1 shows that 28 % of groups included 4 people, and 18 % consisted of 3 people. 40 % of groups consisted of 5 or more people.

Excluding groups of 10 or more, there were on average 4.3 people per group.

Most groups contained adults (88 %) aged between 25-59 years, and children (82 %). Just under a third of groups (29 %) included at least one senior citizen, but only 5 % of groups included young adults.

In terms of total visitors, adults aged between 25-59 years accounted for 39 % of all visitors. Half of all visitors were children, 10 % were senior citizens, and only 2 % were young adults (Figure 2).

Only 18 % of groups were adults without any children. Just over half of the groups consisted of two adults with children, 17 % three or more adults with children, and 14 % one adult with children (Figure 3).

Groups with bikes and dogs

Around 22 % of all groups had dogs with them and 21 % of all groups were on/ with a bike.

Visitor Profile

All of those interviewed were asked to provide their full home postcode.

Each of these postcodes was assigned an “ACORN” code. The Acorn classification was created using cluster analysis of the 1991 Population Census to divide almost all postcodes in 54 “types”. These types can be aggregated into 17 “groups” and the groups into 6 broad “categories” (A to F). Addresses in postcodes within any “type” will therefore tend to have a lot in common and can be given a label which describes the typical member of that “type”, e.g. “Wealthy suburbs, large detached houses”. Postcodes are reassigned acorn codes each year to represent demographic changes since 1991.

The table below shows the proportion of valid postcodes from the survey that fall into each group. This is then compared to the overall GB population using an index, to look for similarities and differences between the two. An index greater than 100 implies that more than the average number of people from that category are visiting the Forest District.

The table shows that the level of visits to the sites is high amongst the ‘Comfortable Middle Agers, Mature Home Owning Areas’ (D9), ‘Wealthy Achievers, Suburbia’ (A1) and ‘Well-off Workers, Family Areas’ (B5).

Table 1.2 Acorn coded postcodes

Type of Visitor

Figure 6 shows that just over half (57 %) of respondents at Rendlesham were locals (i.e had travelled less than 15 miles from home that day), 20 % were day-trippers, and 23 % were holiday-makers.

Type of Accommodation

As indicated above, only 23 % of visitors were holiday-makers. Of these visitors, over half (56 %) of those who had not travelled from home were camping/ caravanning. Others stayed with friends (20 %), self-catering accommodation (14 %), or in B&Bs (11 %).

Distance travelled and mode of transport

As indicated above the majority of the visitors were locals. This is reflected in the distance travelled to Rendlesham forest (Figure 7), with over half (56 %) of respondents travelling between 6 and 15 miles, and 21 % had travelling shorter distances.

The majority of those interviewed travelled by car/van (88 %). Others walked (6 %), came by bicycle (3 %), or by minibus or coach (2 %).

Previous Visits

71 % of visitors had been to Rendlesham before. Of the groups who had visited previously, most tended to come 1-3 times per year (Figure 8). Very few visitors came more often than once per week (7 %).

Finding out about the site

A large number of the visitors (41 %) had found out about the woodland through friends or relatives and 22 % had always known about the woodland (Figure 9). A further 10 % had found out by another method. This was mainly from their place of accommodation (e.g. in their B&B or campsite), or by chance.

Main purpose of visit

Figure 10 shows that a large number of groups at Rendlesham (38 %) were visiting the site for fresh air or exercise. Others came for cycling (22 %) or walking (19 %). 13 % came for another reason, which was mainly to visit the children's playground.

Length of Stay

Just over a third (38 %) of respondents were staying at Rendlesham for around 2 hours (Figure 11). A large number of visitors stayed longer than this (47 %) and few visitors stayed a shorter time (15 %). The average length of stay for a group at Rendlesham was 2.6 hrs.

Waymarked walks at Rendlesham

66% of respondents at Rendlesham had used the waymarked walks. Of those who had used the walks, 40 % had used the red walk, a further 39 % used the blue walk and 17 % used the yellow walk. Those who used the walks, were generally very satisfied with the walks, rating them good or very good (87% for the route marking and 96 % for the quality of the paths). See Figure 12.

Ratings of facilities

The results below present the ratings for each facility in terms of the proportion of visitors who expressed an opinion (i.e. the proportion who had used each facility and provided a rating for it).

Visitors were generally satisfied with most of the facilities at Rendlesham¹ (See Figure 13). The playground was generally given the best ratings with 95 % of those who used it rating it as good or very good. The toilets were rated less highly with only 39 % of those who had used them rating them as good or very good, and 20 % rating them as poor or very poor.

Visitors to Rendlesham were also asked to rate the ‘Giant nightjar’ play sculpture at the site. 71 % of respondents used the ‘Giant nightjar’. The groups who had used the play sculpture were very satisfied, with 99 % rating it as good or very good.

Respondents were also satisfied with the management of the woodlands with 93 % of those who had visited the forest rating it as good or very good. Only 1 % of groups thought the woodland management was poor.

Groups were also happy with the level of parking charges, with almost all respondents (97 %) saying that the parking charges were about right. All the visitors who expressed an opinion said that there were adequate facilities at Rendlesham.

¹ Only 38 % of visitors had used the cycle trail, and 17 % the cycle hire

Improvements

Visitors at Rendlesham were asked what additional and/ or improved facilities they would like to see. 62 % of the groups suggested improvements. Of these, a quarter suggested more or better toilets and 16 % suggested more bins for litter and dog mess. Other suggestions included more café facilities, better information and signs, and more play equipment, especially for toddlers.

When asked of one thing that could be improved at Rendlesham, 29 % of respondents gave a suggestion. Of those, many requested more litter bins, dog litter bins, markers on the walk and cycle trails, toilets and more play equipment.

Visitors with Disabilities or Special needs

Only 7 % of visitors (11 groups) at Rendlesham said that they had a disability. These were all special needs with mobility. Of these 11 groups, 3 had used the disabled toilets, and only one had used the easy access trail and one the disabled car parking.

CONCLUSIONS

This survey has shown that Rendlesham Forest Centre is becoming significant to the Suffolk coastal area for both local residents seeking recreation opportunities and as a tourist attraction. It has also shown that there is definite potential for further development and this will be looked at in greater detail within the forthcoming Recreation strategy.

It has also been shown in the survey that the Centre will need continued investment to upgrade and improve the current facilities (especially the toilets) if we are to maintain its current popularity, as well as additional recreation facilities.

The survey will be a valuable asset in providing information for the Recreation Strategy to show future development for Rendlesham Forest Centre.
